AN AMBITION NOW PARADED

TORONTO (CP) — Emma Mills finally got to lead a parade Thursday, fulfilling a life-long ambition. At 106 years of age, Emma has been waiting a long time for the chance. She rode in the front seat of a convertible and waved at the crowds as the parade headed to the Parkdale Community Festival in the west end of the city. She cut the ribbon to officially open the festival, was presented with a bouquet of flowers and had a look at youngsters on the rides.

Crux Claims Case Failed

VANCOUVER (CP) — The defence lawyer for former Commonwealth Trust Co. president A. G. Duncan Crux, who is charged with theft and false pretences involving $715,462 in securities, said Thursday the Crown has failed to prove his guilt.

Jack McGivern said that, if anything, the Crown's evidence has tended to prove Crux's innocence.

He is charged with using securities of Eastpoint Holdings Ltd., a Kelowna firm owned by Mable Martin, which held the interests of two other Kelowna financial firms. The offence is alleged to have occurred between Sept. 1 and Dec. 1, 1968.

The Crown has claimed in court that Eastpoint agreed to assign its securities to a Commonwealth Trust subsidiary provided that Eastpoint retained the right to repurchase them, and that capital appreciation, dividends and income from the securities would accrue to Eastpoint.

The Crown said the agreement stipulated the securities were not to be sold. Instead, the Crown alleged, the securities were sold as soon as they were obtained from Eastpoint.

Mr. McGivern told the British Columbia supreme court jury that defence evidence produced at the trial showed Crux had Eastpoint's authority to do what he did. Mr. McGivern claimed that the initial agreement proved to be unworkable and that Crux and Eastpoint mutually agreed to the sale.

Prosecutor Kenneth Fawcous began his summation, indicating he would attempt to challenge the credibility of Crux. The trial continues.

Storm Sinks B.C. Boat

VICTORIA (CP) — One fishing boat sank but five others reported in trouble Thursday made port safely as gale-force winds and heavy rain swept the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The lone occupant of the fishboat Stella Maris was rescued after the vessel began sinking stern first off Tofino. The Odd Bay, another fishing boat, took him aboard.

Lifeboats, other fishing vessels and a coast guard cutter took part in the rescue operation, at times directed by military spotter planes which located the troubled vessels in poor visibility conditions.

Hong Kong Flight Halted By Reds

HONG KONG (AP) — Chinese militiamen machine-gunned one youth to death and captured another when the pair tried to swim to Hong Kong, local newspapers reported Friday. A third youth, said the three schoolmates were intercepted as they were about to slip into the sea near the border.

Pickets Cut Off B.C. Hydro's HQ

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pickets appeared today at British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority's main office in Vancouver where 1,000 other union members are employed.

The union members—mostly with the Office and Technical Employees' Union and the Amalgamated Transit Union—did not cross the picket line which went up at 7 a.m. It was expected to be lifted later today.

Although the building houses B.C.'s main power switchboard, usually manned by members of the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers' Union, no major power difficulties were expected.

Hydro supervisory personnel were scheduled to take over switching duties from union members and return the jobs to them when the pickets are removed.

Thursday saw the continuation of the four-day mass strike by 1,900 of Hydro's 2,000 electrical workers. About 100 union members have remained on the job to guarantee the strike would not unnecessarily inconvenience the public.

Pickets appeared at 12 new Hydro work sites Thursday as part of the union's escalation of their strike to back contract demands. Electricians now make $5.39 hourly and want an 18.5 per cent increase.

About 150 additional non-IBEW workers stayed off their jobs, more than 100 of these at the Whalsham construction site which is part of the Arrow Lakes dam project in the Kootenays.

Pickets at the Jordan River dam project on Vancouver Island continued to stop about 250 construction workers Thursday. The last hydro electricians' strike in B.C. took place in 1958 when all 1,500 IBEW members walked off their jobs for three weeks in a contract dispute with B.C. Hydro predecessor, B.C. Electric.

Malta's New Neutralist PM Expels NATO's Naval Chief

LONDON (AP) — Malta's new neutralist prime minister has expelled NATO's naval commander for the Mediterranean, an informed source confirmed today, but he said the action was due to personal antipathy toward the admiral and his native Italy, not toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Prime Minister Dom Mintoff, whose Labor party was elected last week, is reported to have ordered Admiral Geno Birindelli, the commander of allied naval forces in Southern Europe, off the island south of Sicily Wednesday night.

"Mintoff doesn't like Italians in general," said the source, "and he doesn't like Birindelli in particular."

Sources at NATO's Brussels headquarters said the admiral has returned to Italy but retained his NATO command. They explained that the job didn't depend on the commander's location.

NATO maintains an administrative headquarters in Malta by arrangement with Britain since Malta is a member of the Commonwealth and Britain is responsible for its defence.

The 60-year-old admiral was a frogman hero of the Italian navy in the Second World War and now is one of Italy's most controversial military figures.

He has publicly berated the Italian government for not appropriating more funds for the Italian navy.

Another Satellite Launched By Soviet MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched another unmanned satellite in its top-secret Cosmos program Thursday, Tass reported. The government news agency said Cosmos 428 was put into an earth orbit with maximum distance from the earth of 168 miles and minimum distance of 129 miles.

Trudeau Says He's Hopeful Of Accord On Constitution

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau indicated in the Commons today that he does not regard Quebec's veto of proposed constitutional changes as final.

He said that if Quebec can rephrase the proposed change to which it objects and thus remove uncertainty about it, the federal government would try to work out a solution with the other provinces.

At one point in his statement, Mr. Trudeau used the phrase "if the charter is not accepted." The charter comprises the proposed constitutional amendments.

The prime minister said that apparently Quebec objects to only one suggested amendment which would give the provinces joint jurisdiction with the federal authority in the field of family, youth and manpower training allowances.

Premier Robert Bourassa has said there is "uncertainty" about joint jurisdiction and that Quebec wants full jurisdiction in the field of social security.

Mr. Trudeau announced that the federal government has formally accepted the proposed charter worked out at Victoria last week.

He said the charter is a compromise, but a good compromise. Ottawa had made a number of important concessions. So had the provinces.

Though none of the 11 governments got exactly what it wanted, all felt that Canada would be better served with the charter than without it.

"That being the nature of compromise, and therefore the nature of the charter, it is a matter of particular disappointment and regret that the government of Quebec has decided that it is not prepared to accept the charter as it stands," Mr. Trudeau said.

However, there was "some hope" in the fact that Quebec's refusal was based on objection to only one aspect of the charter.

If Quebec could propose a precise formula which would remove its objection, the federal government would be glad to look at it and pass it on to the other provinces.

Would Be Major Advance

Mr. Trudeau added that acceptance of the charter could not be indefinitely delayed—a suggestion that the Monday deadline for acceptance or rejection might be postponed.

The prime minister said the charter would be a major advance for Canada and that it would be disappointing "if the charter does not eventually complete the course that was contemplated for it."

Constitutional revision was a formidable undertaking. "It will be achieved only through mutual understanding, patience and compromise."

"But whether it is achieved early or late, one day it will be completed."

But Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield and New Democrat Leader David Lewis pressed strongly for continuation of constitutional talks, and both were highly critical of Mr. Trudeau's response to the Quebec veto.

Mr. Stanfield said it was his impression that important progress had been made at Victoria, and it would be a pity to drop the matter now.

The Opposition leader called the prime minister's Commons statement ambiguous. It was not clear whether Mr. Trudeau was extending the June 28 deadline on accepting the charter or indicating his government was prepared to extend the deadline.

Mr. Trudeau hadn't helped the important issue much by coming on television last Wednesday and suggesting that he really didn't attach much importance to constitutional reform.

If Mr. Trudeau wanted the discussions continued, Mr. Stanfield said, it was strange that he would treat the question as not being very important, and thus give Quebec and other provinces the same attitude.

Mr. Lewis said constitutional discussions should be continued, but that the almost unanimous response of Quebec against the charter was a stark reality that should be taken into account.

There should be an understanding of Quebec's objectives and "accommodation to them if Canada is going to remain a united country."

French-Canadians Celebrate

MONTREAL (CP) — Riot police moved in ranks through the narrow cobblestone streets of Old Montreal early today clearing out small clusters of the tens of thousands of Montreal-Vieux-Quebecers who came alive with the night away in celebration of French-Canada's national holiday.

The policemen, fully equipped with helmets and two-foot wooden truncheons, moved in after most of the 30,000 St. Jean Baptiste day celebrants had left the historic section on the city's waterfront.

Some minor vandalism, including broken shop windows, was reported and police said they made 32 arrests, most of them for drunkenness.

Thursday night's massive street party among the area's stone buildings, some as old as today.

the city itself, capped the annual week-long celebrations honoring Quebec's patron saint. Nestled between the financial district and the harbor, historic Vieux-Quebec came alive with the night away in celebration of French-Canada's national holiday.

Bars, taverns and restaurants opened on to the streets where bands, rock and traditional French-Canadian, kept the crowd alive with music blared over loudspeakers set up by the city and local radio stations.

In Quebec City, as throughout the rest of the province, the holiday was marked by similar celebrations.

About 10,000 Quebecers invaded the Laval University campus in suburban Ste. Foy where a cultural carnival of film, music and street theatre went into the early hours of today.

Britain's Entry Into ECM 'May Aid Commonwealth'

LONDON (AP) — Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary-general, says Britain's entry to the European Common Market need not be detrimental to the future of the Commonwealth.

The former Canadian diplomat, entering the big British debate over the issue, said today in an interview he believes Britain's membership could be—and he hoped would be—beneficial for Britain, Europe and the Commonwealth.

"It will depend on attitudes as well as other questions," Smith said. "Britain's co-operation with Europe is not necessarily incompatible with a meaningful Commonwealth any more than Canada's relations with the United States are detrimental to Canada's relations with the Commonwealth."

However, Smith said he wanted to correct an impression conveyed in an interview he gave the London Times suggesting that he completely disagreed with Sir Alexander Downer, Australian high commissioner, who feared that Britain's Common Market membership may turn the Commonwealth into an empty shell.

The Smith interview was carried on the front page of the Times today alongside Downer's remarks. The Times quoted Smith as disagreeing with Downer and said that Smith "saw nothing but good from Britain's entry."

LONDON (CP) — Geoffrey Rippon, minister negotiating Britain's entry into the European Common Market, said today he believes safeguards for Canada's exports to the United Kingdom are "pretty adequate and comprehensive."

U.S. Supreme Court On Spot In Pentagon Papers Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court is considering appeals by the government and the New York Times that it step into the conflict over a series of articles on the secret Pentagon history of the Vietnam war.

Immediately ahead loomed a 6 p.m. EDT deadline. Unless the justices act before then the Washington Post will be able to publish what it wants. But the Times will be free to resume publication in Saturday editions only of material the justice department considers safe for public consumption.

Unlike The Post, the Times will be barred from using any of the items in the 47-volume war study the justice department feels should be kept secret in the interest of national security.

The Times told the court in a petition Thursday that the restraint, imposed by the U.S. Circuit Court in New York City, "imposes an insupportable burden on a free press."

The justice department, meanwhile, tried to block The Post from resuming its series of reports on the study. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold argued in an application for a stay that publication would damage national security and the conduct of foreign relations beyond repair.

The Post would be free to publish what it wishes by virtue of a ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia.

Until the two newspaper cases reached their chambers, the justices were planning to recess Monday until October.

Whether these plans will be interrupted is uncertain. But since the two circuit courts have reached conflicting conclusions and questions about national security and press freedom have been raised, the high court almost is compelled to act. A hearing next Monday or Tuesday is possible.

Korean War Still Fizzles On

SEOUL (AP) — Twenty-one years ago today North Korea invaded South Korea and started the Korean War. Occasional clashes still interrupt the uneasy peace along the 151-mile frontier between the two countries.

A 600,000-man South Korean force equipped with United States jet fighter-bombers, missiles, tanks and artillery stands guard along and below the demilitarized zone set by the 1953 armistice.

U.S. soldiers protected 18 miles of the DMZ front until March, when they were pulled back prior to the reduction of U.S. forces in South Korea to 42,000 from 62,000 by July 1.

Across the buffer zone are 46,000 North Korean troops aimed with Soviet military equipment, including MiG-21 jet fighters, heavy artillery and missiles. When the North Korean army crossed the 38th parallel at dawn on June 25, 1950, it had 10 combat divisions armed with 500 Soviet tanks and 2,000 artillery pieces. South Korea was defended by 100,000 ill-trained men armed with rifles and light machine-guns supplied by the United States.

Seoul fell to the invaders in three days and a large part of South Korea was occupied within a month. The United States rushed to South Korea's defence and rallied a 16-nation force under the banner of the United Nations.

These forces pushed all the way through North Korea, to the Chinese border, but late in November, 1950, 300,000 Chinese Communist troops went into action on two fronts and within a month had forced the UN forces back to the 38th parallel. The war resulted in only slight territorial changes along the 38th parallel. South Korea gained some land in the middle and eastern portions of the frontier while losing some territory along the west coast.

But the three-year war was costly in lives for both sides. About 500,000 South Koreans were killed, 380,000 of them civilians, and 430,000 were wounded. The United States suffered 142,091 casualties, including 33,629 killed in action.

Canada's contribution to the UN force was a brigade of approximately 5,000 men, three naval destroyers and a squadron of RCAF transport aircraft. A total of 1,554 Canadian casualties, including 310 dead and one missing.

Winter Returns To Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — There was fresh snow Thursday morning on the mountains that face Vancouverites across their harbor, an interperate slap-in-the-face that reminded the normally balmy city that it is experiencing some of the worst summer weather on record.

Almost an inch of cold rain fell on Vancouver Thursday, when the temperature went down to 52, a record low for June 24. The old mark of 57 was set in 1946.

With six days left in June, only 111.4 hours of sunshine have been recorded at the meteorological station at Vancouver airport, compared with an average of 229 hours for the month. Record low sunshine for the month at 150.1 hours.

Some Link May Be Found In L.A. Between Quake And Giant Blast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A California mining official says there could be some connection between the devastating Feb. 9 earthquake and a fiery natural gas explosion that ripped through an underground tunnel apparently killing 17 workers.

Dr. Gordon B. Oakeshott, deputy chief of the California division of mines and geology, said the quake possibly could have disturbed underground formations and caused seepage of the deadly gas that exploded Thursday.

"During an earthquake like that, underground formations are disturbed," he said. "Springs sometimes start and stop, ground water is sometimes disturbed, any fluid, oil and gas would be disturbed."

Seven bodies have been recovered and rescue crews said dense smoke and debris hampered efforts to find the missing men.

OIL WELLS STUD AREA

The tunnel, being excavated as part of a water project, traverses foothills near the quake epicentre outside suburban Sylmar. The area is studded with oil wells. Fire officials said oil seepage doubtless helped fuel a 14-hour fire that followed the blast and blocked rescue attempts for more than 12 hours.

Fire officials say the gas probably was touched off by a spark from drilling equipment. The explosion in the tunnel was the second in two days. On Wednesday a smaller blast, also attributed to natural gas, injured four workmen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Senate has voted to extend the draft two more years, sweeten soldiers' pay $2.7 billion and chart an Indochina withdrawal plan disowned in advance by the White House.

The White House has said the Mansfield measure won't affect war policy.

The conference has more than a dozen differences to reconcile between the House and Senate versions of the bill. One of the most important is an amendment by Senator Gordon Allott (Rep. Colo.), which raised the military pay boost to the same level approved by the House, but spread most of it among lower ranks.

ANCIENT RITUAL

First Time Bishop Consecrated Here

Service For Rev. R. E. F. Berry Attended By More Than 500

An ancient ritual was repeated here Thursday night. Rev. Robert Edward Fraser Berry was consecrated the seventh bishop of Kootenay diocese. St. Michael and All Angels, the church he served as rector for many years, was packed with more than 500 people for the occasion.

Yet there was an air of freshness to the long drawn out but deeply moving ceremony. Bishop Berry is the first bishop who lived here prior to his consecration, so it was the first time the ceremony has been in the diocese.

FEAST DAY

Thursday was the Feast of St. John the Baptist, a holiday in the bishop's native Quebec. His successor, Most Rev. E. W. Scott, this year became Anglican primate of Canada.

The ceremony began with a procession of choirs and clergy. Rev. Fitzroy Richards of Salmon Arm led in a litany asking God to bless His people. Then Most Rev. Godfrey Gower, Anglican metropolitan of B.C., started the preparation for the consecration.

From the lips of an old friend, Bishop Berry learned that he must encourage the quest for truth, guard the faithful and reconcile people in the diocese.

Bishop Barry Valentine, who has known the new bishop for some 20 years, spoke on the anniversary of his own consecration. He is head of the diocese of Rupert's Land, near Winnipeg, an office once held by a former primate.

This is a time of spiritual awakening among young and old, the speaker said. Bishops should welcome this. They must embody unity and integrity.

Diocesan registrar Jergen Behncke of Armstrong, and chancellor Brian Weddell of Kelowna read the certificates of election. The new bishop then promised to "maintain the doctrine, sacraments and discipline of Christ, as the Lord has commanded in His holy word, and as the Anglican Church of Canada has received and set forth the same, and I promise due obedience to the metropolitan of B.C."

Grape Talks Draw Blank

Grape price negotiations between the British Columbia Grape Marketing Board and six wineries in the province, which began at the Capri June 10, have drawn a "blank."

Board secretary L. R. Stevens, said today nothing had been resolved at the last meeting of the board and wineries June 14, and the next step "is to ask for arbitration." He added although the National Produce Marketing Act did not provide for arbitration, Premier W. A. C. Bennett last year had requested the board provide such means to resolve grape price problems.

Last year, the newly formed grape marketing board was forced to amend its new grape price list issued Aug. 20 following discontent by wineries. The board had initially asked for $165 a ton for Labruscas and a sliding price scale from $180 to $195 a ton for hybrids and other special varieties.

FAILED TO PLEASE
Arbitration talks ordered by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, following a warning by the Premier that the initial price list issued by the board and disputed by wineries might lead to arbitration, produced an across the board price of $150 a ton for Labruscas and $185 a ton for hybrids. The re-vamped price list failed to please local growers.

Mr. Stevens said current talks, if they had continued, would have concerned grape prices, as well as grape classification and designation of a negotiating chairman. Some of the board's aims also include separating grapes into five main classifications plus some sub-classes with commensurate price ranges.

He said the grape board in Ontario had designated some 90 grape classifications, while the state of New York had 14 classes.

"Things are at a standstill until we hear from wineries," Mr. Stevens added.

Wineries involved in negotiations include two local firms, and companies in Penticton, Victoria, New Westminster and Port Moody.

Hands Laid On His Head

While the new bishop knelt, hands of other distinguished churchmen were laid on his head. In addition to Archbishop Gower, Primate Scott and Bishop Valentine, others taking part were bishops Roy Gartell, Vancouver Island; Douglas Hambridge, Yukon; John Frame, Caledonia; Ralph Dean, Cariboo; David Somerville, New Westminster; and Morris Goodman, Calgary.

Archbishop Gower presented four things to the bishop—a Bible, a pastoral staff representing his role as "shepherd of the sheep," a pectoral cross worn on his chest, and a ring for the fourth finger of his right hand.

Following the offering, eucharist (communion) was served to some 400 people by various clergy.

WELCOME
There was a departure from the usual church austerity when, at the end, Archbishop Gower said, "I present unto you Fraser our brother, bishop in the church of God." After shouting, "Fraser, our brother! Welcome! Welcome! Welcome!" his people broke into applause, with rolling of drums and a fanfare of trumpets. Mrs. Berry and her two children stood with him at the altar while the congregation sang Praise to the Lord, the Almighty, the King of Creation.

Clergy of other denominations and Mayor Herbert Roth were present. Reverends Paul Robinson of St. Michael's church and Jack Greenhalgh of Vernon were masters of ceremonies. Archdeacon D. P. Watney of Vancouver was the archbishop's chaplain.

The choir, from Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton, was led by Rod Butler of Penticton. Mrs. Fred Verkerk of Kelowna was the organist.

Many people crowded into the Parish Hall to congratulate the new bishop and his family. He will be installed Tuesday in St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral, Nelson. This is the main church in the diocese, in which he was elected last month.

City Man On Executive Of Wildlife Association

Jim Treadgold of Kelowna was elected vice-president of the Okanagan-Similkameen Wildlife Association for 1971-72 at a meeting of the organization recently.

Walt Cousins of Penticton was elected president of the association, which is the zonal organization for fish and game clubs in the Okanagan and Similkameen and in Game Management Areas 5, 6, 7 and 8.

Ron Deans of Penticton was elected secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

Members attending the meeting approved a resolution asking for tight restrictions on fire permits during July and August. The resolution will be sent to the chief forester of the Kamloops Forest District.

It was reported that there will be a closure on antlerless mule deer in GMA 8 this year, which may continue for several years.

The Okanagan-Similkameen zone will participate in the east of a garbage pit recently installed at Pennask Lake, and will help in the construction of the proposed public access road to Hatheume Lake.

... Cloudy

Saturday was expected to be cool and cloudy with sunny periods and a few afternoon showers. Today was cloudy and cool with a few showers and brisk southerly winds in the main valleys.

Kelowna temperatures Thursday were a high and low of 59 and 50 with 16 precipitation, and today had a high and low of 63 and 47. Friday's high was expected to be 63.

School Board Serves Notice

A spokesman for School District 23 (Kelowna) said today he preferred to reserve comment on reported lockout notices to Canadian Union of Public Employees involved in pay rate disputes with four Okanagan school boards.

A story out of Penticton today said four school boards in the Valley had served lockout

SEEN and HEARD

Manager Glen Carleton reported during Monday's Regatta directors' meeting that a total of $4,100 in Regatta coins have been sold to date. Although there are still many thousands of coins remaining, Mr. Carleton stated, we could have probably sold about 20,000 more coins than we have orders for.

A lady tennis buff received quite a shock during Tuesday's sudden storm. While driving in the downtown area from her tennis lesson in the park, she stopped her car just in time to avoid being crushed by a large tree which landed in the middle of her path.

The level of Okanagan Lake has risen 1.4 inches in the last week, and is less than four inches from the maximum allowable level, the water resources branch said today. The level this morning was 102.19 compared to 102.07 feet last Friday. The maximum allowable is 102.50 feet.

What does rain, hub caps, and a mushroom have in common? Mrs. James of Joe Riche Valley stumbled upon what she thought was a hub cap in a cow pasture near her home Thursday, and picking it up found it to be a two pound mushroom. The abnormal growth of the healthy specimen was attributed to the excess moisture in the district during the past month.

Carless motorists have been the target of a rash of thefts from cars, say police. Vehicles should be kept locked when not in use, and valuable articles in them kept out of sight.

Roses are bustin' out all over. The weather, which the Irish would call "soft" right now, makes many species of flora happy, but none so colorfully as the rose. Even non-gardening types have noted the magnificent displays being shown at present. Even rose bushes, which in a normal "sunny Okanagan" year are quite modest, now colorfully express thanks for the wet weather.

Local merchants, particularly clothing dealers, are particularly happy with the weather, man these days. Stubbish cool, wet temperatures are "freezing" summer socks and early hot pants sales seem to have "fizzled" in direct proportion to downward thermometer readings.

Okanagan residents will have a chance to air views on the future of the Valley at a special public meeting today at Penticton sponsored by the Okanagan Basin Water Board. The meeting begins at 8 p.m. at the Community Arts Centre auditorium.

Summer School To Be Busy

Things are looking rosy for the Kelowna School District 23 (Kelowna) sponsored summer school program scheduled from Monday to July 26.

Summer school director, John Ross, said today enrolment is "steady" and registration for elementary school subjects is "up five per cent" over last year, particularly in the band classes which to date have 84 registrations compared with 58 last year. He described the music instruction, under directors Brian Todd and Larry Lowes, as a "darned good deal" involving 40 hours of intensified band time.

"We could just about rival Penticton in bands," he added. Band classes offer individual help through five additional directors.

Mr. Ross attributed the popularity of summer classes to an "increase in the size of Kelowna" and the fact that summer instruction is "conducive to a pretty good learning situation."

The program encompasses music, reading, mathematics, science, typewriting and art in the park categories, designed to provide enrichment in those subjects and assist students who have failed (not more than two courses during 1970-71) or gained marginal passes, by improving their understanding and knowledge in a particular academic course.

Mr. Ross added that first registration for art in the park classes, designated as being at City Park, will be accepted Monday at the adult education office at Kelowna Secondary School. Later registration for this course will be held at City Park as advertised.

Since the Orchard Park shopping centre will be open soon, it is imperative the plan to discuss having a general meeting.

"If nothing happens within about two weeks, we can consider the DBA has folded," Mr. Bradley suggested.

Since the Orchard Park shopping centre will be open soon, it is imperative the plan to discuss having a general meeting.

Director G. T. Bradley said he met with M. D. Lepper, president of the DBA, who promised to call an executive meeting to discuss having a general meeting.

Also discussed was the one-way lane system introduced on two downtown lanes at the request of truckers. Directors said people are driving into the lanes in spite of "Do not enter" signs.

Director E. D. McLachlan pointed out the RCMP submit a report every month which shows among other things, how many street lights are out. He wanted to know what follow-up is done.

The chamber has had one meeting with council this year, and it was suggested another should be held. President Ronald Alexander was to discuss these matters with Mayor Hilbert Roth Thursday afternoon.

Albert Joseph Sheehy was also of Calgary, turned himself in here in connection with a break, enter and theft in the Prairie city. He is being held pending information from police there.

Glen Douglas Delgatty of Kelowna was "mandated in custody" until Wednesday on a charge of breaking and entering, since Monday on Harvey Avenue April 27 and stealing a car.

IN COURT

Only remands without pleas were given this morning by Justice of the Peace George Phillips in provincial court.

Brian James Farrell and James Stanley Shukin of Calgary, charged with theft by conversion, were remanded to July 22. Bail was set at $1,000 each.

Director E. D. McLachlan said plans are being made to entertain 11 Japanese university students here July 19-20.

CYCLIST INJURED

David Stephen Bigden of Kelowna was treated Thursday night at Kelowna General Hospital after the bicycle he was riding was in a collision with a motor vehicle at Harvey Avenue and Ethel Street. The driver was said to be Neville D. Lanson of Kelowna.

CHAMBER TOLD

Promote More Concern About Our City Affairs

Kelowna Chamber of Commerce should promote more concern about city affairs, directors said Thursday.

The chamber and Kelowna Jaycees send representatives to council meetings each Monday night. Director Don Steele has represented the chamber at several meetings, and wondered if there was any value in continuing this. He praised the Courier for its coverage of council activities.

Directors said there were many things the chamber should be concerned about. For example, last month council turned down a request to rezone part of Harvey Avenue for a new motel. Comments were made that homes on the avenue are deteriorating, so commercial development is needed.

The application was made by Pemsall Enterprises Ltd., of which Ferris Salloom is the main shareholder. L. T. Salloom, who presented the plan to council, is a chamber director but was not present at the meeting in the Caravel Motor Inn.

REDEVELOPMENT
Another matter that has concerned the chamber for the last 18 months or so is redevelopment of the area bounded by

Bottleneck At Hope Keeps People Away From Okanagan

Traffic tieups at Hope are keeping people away from the Okanagan, directors of Kelowna Chamber of Commerce learned Thursday.

"People were so annoyed because of delays on holiday weekends they aren't going to come here again," suggested director Don Steele.

At the convention of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce here this month, directors urged the provincial government to build the Coquihalla Pass route to eliminate the bottleneck.

There were bouquets from B.C. chamber officials for the committee that organized the convention, headed by Ken Harding.

President Ron Alexander voiced hopes the chamber would recognize improvements of business premises each year. This year a North Vancouver distillery has extended its contest for business improvements to all B.C. Since 1968 it has been kept to the lower mainland.

Businesses of all types and sizes may be entered. The local deadline is July 15, with the B.C. deadline July 31.

Director L. R. Stephens pointed out that, in 1926, the chamber started a clean-up, paint-up contest. This is held now by the Kelowna Jaycees.

The chamber needs 110 members to reach its 1971 goal of 150 members. Present membership is 310.

Director E. D. McLachlan said plans are being made to entertain 11 Japanese university students here July 19-20.

Parade Entries Coming In Slow

Kelowna Jaycees want this year's regatta parade to be the biggest and best ever for the centennial, but entries are coming in slowly with the parade deadline of July 15 drawing near.

Entry chairman Denis Gaudreau of the Jaycees, who are sponsoring the parade, said "We want to make the parade extra-special this year for the centennial. We are emphasizing quality floats."

Last year there were more than 100 entries in the annual parade and they would like to see even more this year.

Groups wishing to enter a float in the parade can contact Mr. Gaudreau by writing to Box 53, in Kelowna.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

Short Takes

Sign of the times: Last Sunday the Gyro Park was occupied by picnickers, one group apparently fairly large. After they had gone, a radius of 20 feet around the garbage barrel was littered with papers, cartons and what have you. The obvious conclusion was that the people who used the park—without charge—for their own enjoyment, didn't bother to even place their litter in the barrel. They threw it on the ground near the barrel and left a mess for someone else to clean up. Nice people!

July 1 is approaching and the postage rate goes up to seven cents for a letter. While we do hate to harp on the subject, it does seem an appropriate time to point out that a letter mailed in Vancouver on June 16th reached Kelowna on the 21st, while another postmarked in Montreal on the 14th was received here on the 23rd. When the letter rate was three cents, we had better service than this! And we do not think the delays are caused locally. It is the whole p.o. system. Now that the rate is being increased again, what price better service?

Lane-changing without signalling seems to be the most popular sport on many streets and highways these days. Drivers who wish to take advantage of their summer holidays while still alive, are advised to be on guard against these gay fellows. And, also, watch those who do signal but keep their flashers going after the turn is made. They are equally dangerous.

Wonder if that bright yellow paint on the fire hydrants is to attract the dogs and keep them away from the taxpayer's evergreens?

"The world is passing through troublesome times. The young people of today think of nothing but themselves. They have no reverence for parents or old age. They are impatient with all restraint. They talk as if they alone knew everything and what passes for wisdom with us is foolishness with them. As for the girls, they are foolish and immodest and unwomanly in speech, behavior and dress." That quote is a pretty good description of today's young people? Not so. They were written by ePter the Monk in 1274! The more things change, the more they are the same.

Wonder how many of those French-speaking people who complained they had received an English census form can speak English? That whole thing smacks of another built-up incident in the language argument. Basically phoney.

The United States is just 12 months away from the time the parties nominate their presidential candidates for the 1972 November election. Nixon, if he wants it, can have the Republican nomination. Should he not run, at this point it would appear that Senator Muskie would get the nod, although Hubert Humphrey is waiting hopefully in the wings for an encore. However, it's the "non-candidate," Edward Kennedy who seems to be gaining in popularity. He is feared by the Republican professionals for his vote appeal to the young, blacks, Catholics, labor, big-city political machines. The election now appears to be a cliff-hanger with present assessments indicating that the South and Border states may decide the issue. It's too early to assess what impact the Pentagon papers have on the election situation. The revelations could hurt the Democrats a lot and the Republicans some. And how will the voters react to the censorship tactics of the Nixon government in banning the publication of the papers? It's a new situation in the Land of the Free and it may make the election a whole new ball game.

Speed, The Extra Hazard

The argument that speed by itself does not cause accidents has always been acceptable. At 100 miles an hour a suitable car in perfect shape driven in broad daylight by an attentive, capable, healthy driver down a straight, level, dry highway which has wide shoulders and is otherwise unoccupied is as safe as a seat in Sunday school. Maybe more so.

It is usually the lack of one or more of these conditions that cause road mishaps. But when things go wrong, speed is a thief of time and space to try to put them right. Its worthless exchange for vital moments in deadly momentum.

How else can one interpret, for instance, the city-versus-country accident facts contained in the Canadian Safety Council's newly issued 1970 highway accident summary?

There are 335 cities and town in Canada with populations exceeding 5,000, the summary says. They represent 60.72 per cent of the country's total population. But they were responsible for only 26 per cent of total accident deaths last year.

The 56 cities with populations of 40,000 or more represent 42 per cent of Canada's total population—and these include such rural areas as Saanich, Surrey and Coquitlam—and were responsible for only 19 per cent of total accidents and 17.17 per cent of total traffic deaths.

Taken by themselves these figures do not necessarily mean much. Perhaps people drive more carefully in the cities than in the country? Or there are more car-miles driven in the country where speed limits are higher?

Further statistics cited in the summary speak for themselves. The cities of more than 20,000 people, with 50.44 per cent of the Canadian population, accounted for 62.1 per cent of Canada's traffic accidents; 64.3 per cent of the property-damage accidents, and 51.2 per cent of the injuries. All the communities of 5,000 or more listed, with the previously mentioned 60.72 per cent of the total population, were the locations of 72.3 per cent of the total accidents, 75.4 per cent of property-damage accidents, but less than their population share of injuries, 58.3 per cent.

High speed, it may be deduced, doesn't enter into the majority of accidents. But where it is present, it often provides, in the grimmest sense, the finishing touches.

Wildlife Service Succeeds In Increasing Animal Totals

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Just 10 miles west of this city of 100,000 a trapper makes the rounds of 52 active beaver lodges.

In 1963 the trapper's assigned area contained only 12 beaver families.

The beaver increase and growing co-operation of about 300 trappers across insular Newfoundland is one example of successes achieved in recent years by the provincial wildlife service.

The most spectacular was an increase in the woodland caribou population to 17,150 this year from 4,500 in 1964 as a result of a lynx-trapping program. Thinning of the native caribou population in caribou areas started when biologists discovered scores of calves were dying of infected neck wounds caused by lynx attacks.

The Newfoundland pine marten, thought by many in recent years to be virtually extinct, is under study by biologists for the first time in history.

Peregrine falcons, once thought extinct in eastern North America, were found last year in Labrador and also are under study.

ANNUAL LICENCE

The beaver trapping season in recent years was Nov. 15-March 31 but is to be extended in 1972 to April 15 because of a general increase in population. About 3,000 are taken each season.

Trappers pay $2 for an annual licence and are allowed one beaver a lodge.

Biologist Neil F. Payne, whose main responsibility is fur-bearers, says each trapper is assigned an area, or trapline, to manage. The island is divided into 11 management zones, each containing varying numbers of traplines.

The trapper submits information and parts of each animal taken, enabling biologists to ascertain age, sex, breeding capabilities and range.

"Most trappers are honest," Mr. Payne said in an interview.

"Even if we left the season open all year long, most of our trappers wouldn't take the beaver until the pelt is prime in mid-November."

"Many try to release alive any males taken before February when the beaver mate because they know if there's no mating there won't be any kits in the spring."

MORE MARTEN

Mr. Payne also is in charge of the pine marten study.

At Little Grand Lake, deep in the wilderness interior of southwestern Newfoundland, there were 13 captures involving seven martens last year.

The martens were caught in box-traps, tagged and released. The ratio was one female to six males.

"Which leads us to believe there are more martens in there," Mr. Payne said.

Government records show that western Newfoundland trappers took only 10 martens in 1910. The animal, related to the weasel, now is a protected species.

The provincial government recently granted federal biologists permission to capture breeding pairs of peregrine falcons in Labrador for study at a special station in Edmonton.

Chretien Started It Up North With That Promise About Jobs

OTTAWA (CP) — Northern Development Minister Jean Chretien started something he may not have intended when he promised in 1968 that by 1977 three of every four northern government jobs would be held by northerners.

Then, as now, Eskimos, Indians and Metis who make up the majority of the population, held few of the more than 2,000 public servant positions in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon. Opening the public service to them in large numbers appeared a big start in cutting down on unemployment among these groups.

But deputy ministers of government departments active in the north now question whether Mr. Chretien was referring only to Eskimos, Indians and Metis when he made the promise.

Several definitions of a true northerner now are being considered by the advisory committee on northern development, the group charged with suggesting over-all northern policies.

One definition would make a northerner of anyone living in the territories for a day.

Another says that a northerner is anyone who has lived and worked in the territories for five years or more.

OUR ECONOMY

A Buck Is A Buck, Unless...

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA Some first impressions of the Benson budget may very well require correction. Many commentators have taken it as the whole story on tax reform. If that were correct it would mean repudiation of the Carter commission report and the Trudeau government's own "white paper."

This is because the budget does not establish nor promise equal treatment of capital gains and earned income. It ignores the principle that all income should be taxed more or less equally which the commission dramatized in the slogan "a buck is a buck."

For now the government chooses to go along with a system under which a lot of bucks are taxed more than a lot of other bucks, depending on who gets them and how. A buck received in stock trading which is now tax free will be taxed as if it were 50 cents while a buck received in a pay envelope will be taxed as a buck. That situation may continue for a long time but the government as of now is not committed to its continuance. To assume that it is, means ignoring one of Benson's introductory sentences. He said, "We are now entering the final phase of the most comprehensive tax reform undertaken since the income tax system was begun in 1917."

The word "entering" isn't there by accident. This budget is not the "final phase," merely the entrance. The form of entrance was chosen in relation to the current economic situation calling for continued stimulants to business activity, and the political situation, a general election either this year or next.

CAPITALS GAINS TAX — Once a capital gains tax is written into the law as it will be this year, it will be easy to boost it closer to the Carter commission target of full taxation on the same basis as other income. That won't happen before a general election. After the election any government which needs more money in a hurry will be pretty keen on it raised taxes on earned income, now fully taxed, and allows capital gains to go on half-taxed and half-free. The general tenor of the speech shows that the government this year was concerned with providing stimulants to the economy and building a favorable climate for its appeal to the electorate, more than with tax reform. That means the measures of reform, while significant, are directed to increasing consumer demand and hence employment.

The budget provides a lot of relief for individual taxpayers by way of increased exemptions and other change. A million low-income people will drop off the tax rolls. Another 4,700,000 will pay less next year than this and for another 2,000,000 rates will remain practically unchanged. That means more spending power in the hands of the masses.

When a government has a high Canadian exchange rate, increased economic nationalism and a growing concern that economic growth in itself does not serve the ultimate ends of society.

The special background study by three biologists was released today, almost eight months after the Science Council made recommendations based on the study to the government.

In those recommendations, announced last October, the science council said a healthy, high-quality environment should be defined as a national goal. But to priority was re-emphasized.

The study released Thursday is entitled Science Activities, a Fisheries and Wildlife Resources.

The authors are Douglas Philott, a University of Toronto ecologist; C. James Kerswill, a program co-ordinator at the Fisheries Research Board headquarters in Ottawa, and John Roger Bider, a McGill University wildlife biologist.

They argue that listing the achievement of a high-quality environment as a priority goal would indicate its relative importance and would symbolize the concern of society for the future.

It would "affirm that the attainment of immediate economic goals must be rigorously appraised to ensure that their attainment will not leave a legacy of catastrophic environmental problems."

The three scientists say, however, that it is difficult to see how economic and environmental goals can be brought into harmony.

Society must first learn that economic actions inevitably have environmental repercussions.

The study says there is unlikely to be any financial profit in retaining or restoring environmental quality: "Canada will just be a better place in which to live."

Saskatchewan NDP Chief Has Full Deck To Play

REGINA (CP) — The Saskatchewan electorate has handed Allan Blakeney and his New Democratic party the deck. Now it's time for the deal—his New Deal for People.

Mr. Blakeney won a landslide victory Wednesday, topping the Liberal administration of Ross Thatcher and returning the province to what he calls "democratic socialism" after the NDP spent seven years in opposition.

He intends to get right down to work by calling the legislature into session in late July.

Top priority will be given to the health field, removing medical deterrent fees and eliminating medical care insurance premiums for citizens 65 years and over.

The deterrent fees—called utilization fees by the Liberal government—are levied against an adult or child for hospital treatment and doctor's visits.

The charges, long criticized by the NDP as a tax against the sick and poor, are $2.50 a day for the first 30 days and $1.50 day thereafter to a maximum of $180 a year a family. A charge of $1.50 is made for each visit to a doctor.

TO CUT DRUG COSTS

Mr. Blakeney also promised to "drastically reduce costs of essential drugs, eyeglasses, dentures, hearing aids, braces and wheel chairs."

In other areas, he has promised to preserve the family farm by setting up a land bank commission to enable retiring farmers to pass the farms on to young people.

The Liberal government's resource policies were a major thorn in the side of the NDP in opposition. Charges of "give-away" often accompanied announcement of a new industry.

Of particular concern was the proposed $117.7 million Athabasca pulp mill at Dore Lake in northern Saskatchewan. That deal was ratified by the last legislature but unless the developers, Parsons and Whittemore of New York, agree to major revisions, it likely will be thrown out.

Fate of a multi-million-dollar iron ore mine, announced jointly by the government and Denison Mines earlier this year, also is in doubt. Premier Thatcher had made few facts known about the agreement.

Mr. Blakeney says the NDP "will encourage balanced development which will create jobs and activities that are in harmony with the environment—such as selective harvesting of timber, hunting, trapping, mining, commercial fishing and particularly tourism."

HELP FOR BUSINESS

Small business, as opposed to large corporations from the United States, have been promised help in the form of a special agency to provide various assistance.

The people have been promised lower taxes, largely through a pledge to reduce the education tax assessed farms, small businesses and homes.

The NDP also promised to establish a prices and review board to impose selective controls on profits, wages and interest rates if Ottawa failed to take appropriate action in that field.

It was no secret that large labor unions assisted in the election campaign, mostly in reaction to Liberal proposals to establish labor-management courts.

One piece of Liberal legislation that likely will get short shrift from the NDP is Bill 2, the Essential Services Emergency Act which prohibits strikes in virtually all types of labor.

The NDP also promised to set up an independent electoral boundaries commission, changing the Liberals with a gerrymander in the 1970 redistribution of seats by a predominantly Liberal committee of the legislature.

What Happened To Women's Lib?

NEW YORK (AP) — What ever happened to the women's liberation movement?

Thousands of women marched last Aug. 26, demonstrating for equal pay, child care centres, abortion on demand and an end of sexism. But what are they doing now?

"Women's liberation has crested, but the national consciousness it has raised on sex discrimination is irreversible," said Betty Friedan, organizer of the 1970 strike.

"Women's liberation has turned into women's participation and what was a minority movement is becoming a majority movement at all levels. Women will no longer be barred from the mainstream of life."

Court cases charging sex discrimination are increasing in number. Women candidates, many with strong feminist platforms, are priming for political battle. And almost daily, women move into yet another traditional male domain. Women are becoming senators, judges, rabbis, as well as truck drivers, letter carriers, or railway switch operators.

Some recent developments and firsts for women include: —The United Presbyterian Church elected a woman as its top presiding officer. In other churches, the first woman was ordained as a Lutheran pastor, the American Baptists Convention named a woman as president, and Episcopalians allowed women to serve in the previously all-male House of Deputies.

—The first female mayor of a city larger than 200,000 was elected. Patricia Sewell Laing of Oklahoma City joined 13 other women who head cities with more than 30,000 population.

—The National Press Club in Washington finally admitted women members after 63 years.

—The U.S. treasury department graduated its first four female sky marshals to help deter potential hijackers.

—Pregnant stewardesses, married or not, now are given maternity leave by some airlines. They used to be fired.

—Air force Reserve Officers Training Corps became co-educational and women members with children are permitted to keep their careers in the service.

—The first woman was named to head a U.S. television bureau overseas: Aina Saarinen, who is going to Paris for the National Broadcasting Co.

—President Nixon opened four jobs in the $25,000-to-$40,000-a-year category to women, including a top slot in the Civil Service Commission.

Revised Family Allowances 'To Bring In Ages 16 To 17'

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says a revised family allowance plan now being studied by the provinces would include young people aged 16 to 17 and would cost the federal treasury up to $100 million more each year than the present plan does.

The Globe and Mail published a similar report earlier Wednesday.

The papers say that three categories would be set out for levels of payment. They would be from infancy to age 11, 12 to 15, and 16 and 17. The older children would receive higher payments.

The reported plan is a departure from the government's white paper on income security, which recommended cutting off families with gross incomes of more than $10,000 annually with no regard for family size.

The papers say the allowances would be subject to an income test under which benefits would decline as gross family income increases. Initially, allowances would be scaled between $5 and $16 a month per child and $16 a month, depending on income.

The papers say that the increased expenditure would be offset, in part, by dropping the present fixed-rate youth allowance for children aged 16 and 17 and by removing allowances for higher-income families.

The reports say families with incomes of up to $4,500 a year would get $16 a month per child—at least double the present payment. Allowances would be trimmed by $1 a month for each $500 increase in yearly income.

As an example, the Globe and Mail says a family with one child would receive some allowance until gross income reached $9,830 a year. For a family with two children, the cutoff point would rise to $10,110 a year; with three children $10,430 a year and with four children $10,770. A family with 10 children would not be cut off until gross income hit $11,200 annually.

Stable And Healthy Environment Should Be Top Canadian Target

OTTAWA (CP) — The achievement of a stable and healthy environment should replace the pursuit of national prosperity as Canada's most important goal, the authors of a study done for the Science Council of Canada say.

In fact, national prosperity should be listed as the last of seven national goals recommended by the Science Council to give Canadians "a better sense of perspective of its importance."

The argument, however, was lost even before it was published.

The special background study by three biologists was released today, almost eight months after the Science Council made recommendations based on the study to the government.

In those recommendations, announced last October, the science council said a healthy, high-quality environment should be defined as a national goal. But to priority was re-emphasized.

No-Fault Auto Insurance May Be Ontario Rule

TORONTO (CP) — No-fault automobile insurance may be mandatory in all Ontario automobile policies next year and indications are it will not cost the policyholder more money for at least 12 months.

Arthur Wishart, minister of financial and commercial affairs, introduced legislation Thursday in the Ontario legislature which would make the no-fault feature a mandatory component of all automobile policies written in the province after Jan. 1.

No-fault coverage pays benefits in cases of death or disability regardless of who is at fault in an automobile mishap. A person could seek additional damages through civil court action as the schemes does not include damage to property.

Norman Manning, president of the Canadian Underwriters Association, said Thursday the body plans no increase in automobile accident benefit premiums for one year after the proposed legislation becomes effective.

Mr. Wishart told the legislature the proposed legislation would "give the people of Ontario automobile insurance coverage that is second to none anywhere on this continent."

Major provisions of the bill include:

—Disability benefits of 80 per cent of total earnings of employed persons with maximum weekly benefit of $70, up from $35 now. Payments would commence on date of the disability. The minister said the new rate would exceed maximum benefits in British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

—Disability payments of $35 a week to the spouse or principal unpaid housekeeper residing in the household of accident victim providing the spouse or housekeeper is not a wage earner.

—Payment of $5,000 to the principal dependent and $1,000 to each additional dependent in the event of the death of the head of the household.

Benefits are paid if death occurs within 180 days of the accident or within two years if the disability has been continuous.

Mr. Wishart told the house-that one of the primary features of the proposed legislation is that disability benefits are paid from the first day of injury.

WAITING ENDED

In the proposed legislation, the present waiting period of seven days or more has been eliminated.

Time limitation now in force on existing disability benefits is also removed under the legislation.

The minister told a news conference that actuaries studying the plan concluded that insurance companies could afford to keep accident-benefit rates at the current level because they would avoid legal costs and delays under the no-fault scheme.

F. J. Pilgrem, deputy minister of financial and commercial affairs, said more than 70 per cent of Ontario motorists now have no-fault coverage, which costs $9 a year.

The new legislation would require the remaining 30 per cent or 900,000 motorists in the province to buy no-fault coverage, but they would not have to pay for it until their 1972 policies expire.

The bill covers all insured motor vehicles including motorcycles, scooters, snowmobiles, trucks and buses.

OTHERS ELIGIBLE

Passengers, pedestrians struck by an insured vehicle, or members of the family of the owner of the insured vehicle, while still living at home, are eligible for benefits if involved in a motor vehicle accidents.

SELLING OF PENTAGON

CBC Chief Admits Possibility He May Be Held In Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, saying he realized he may be found in contempt of Congress, declined Thursday a direct order that he turn over to House of Representatives investigators subpoenaed material involved in The Selling of the Pentagon television documentary.

"In my opinion, you are now in contempt," said the chairman of the House subcommittee, Representative Harley O. Staggers, (Dem. W.Va.).

If the Staggers subcommittee recommends to the full commerce committee that a contempt citation be sought, action would be subject to a decision by the House—which would be a recommendation to the justice department that would then decide whether to prosecute.

Stanton declined to produce the subpoenaed production material, and to answer questions "relating to the preparation of The Selling of the Pentagon or any other particular CBS news or documentary broadcast."

INVOLVES PRINCIPLE

Stanton said he "must respectfully decline" in both cases on the advice of network lawyers and "our own conviction that a fundamental principle of a free society is at stake."

He added, however, that he would "do my best to answer clear testimony under oath that CBS, in the program that was sharply critical of military public relations practices, used electronic manipulation to alter the words of at least two speakers.

"Today we are asserting that the public has a right to know, not only by whom but how it is being persuaded," Staggers said.

Staggers said no segment of the broadcasting industry "has the right to insist that its affairs be held sacrosanct and immune from public scrutiny and criticism."

Bonner Presents Defence For Foreign Investors

TORONTO (CP) — R. W. Bonner, former British Columbia attorney-general and now an executive with MacMillan-Bloedel Ltd., said today Canada would need an "almost totally managed society" to become independent of foreign investors.

Mr. Bonner said the Canadian government would have to force Canadians to invest savings in Canadian enterprises if the free flow of outside capital is stopped.

The result would be that bureaucrats and not businessmen would run the private sector of the economy, Mr. Bonner told about 175 delegates to the Ontario conference on economic and cultural nationalism.

He said he rejects arguments that foreign investment has meant a loss of domestic control.

"I am convinced that Canada today is a freer, stronger, more independent nation than she would have been if she had listened to and accepted the arguments of economic nationalism," Mr. Bonner said.

"Canada has taken independent initiatives with respect to her NATO commitments, her relations with the Soviet Union and China, her concern for Arctic pollution and the freeing of the Canadian dollar."

COULD BE COSTLY

Canada can not afford "a protracted debate on the theoretical reaches of nationalism," he said. This would make us appear hostile to investors in other countries and this may be costly.

Mr. Bonner said he doubted that any company operating in Canada would behave differently if the nationality of its controlling investors were changed, with the exception of some cases where Canadian control was required.

He noted that existing legislation requires several types of industries, including many financial institutions, to be Canadian controlled. These were industries operating under strict government regulation and he said he doubted that they would be able to operate differently if control moved to foreign investors.

He cited the automobile industry as an example of a company that might become less efficient if Canadian control were required. The industry would lose economies from mass production and advantages of access to larger credit reserves, larger markets and technological developments.

"In short, to slash the fabric of an economically devised international operation by making Canadian parts independent and locally owned does not result in an automatic improvement of their function. The reverse appears to be the result."

GROWTH RATE VITAL

He said the rate of growth of the Canadian labor force is 50 per cent greater than the general growth rate of the national population—this relates to the baby boom of the post Second World War period.

Canada needs an annual growth rate of about nine per cent during the next two years to approach full employment and a six-per-cent growth rate during the balance of this decade to keep up.

Mr. Bonner said it does not appear likely that domestic capital sources can provide sufficient funds to create those jobs.

HYDE-CLIFFE

Her Parents' Anniversary Date Chosen For Wedding

June 19, her parents' 28th wedding anniversary, was the date for Margaret Jean Cliffe's marriage to Lawrence Edward Hyde, both of Kelowna.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edmund Cliffe of Kelowna and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Albert Hyde, also of Kelowna.

The late afternoon ceremony, conducted by Rev. J. M. Davidson, took place in St. Paul's United Church, Kelowna, amidst a setting of white daisies and pink and white peonies.

Soloist Ernest Burnett, accompanied by Mrs. Jean Gibson, both of Kelowna, sang The Lord's Prayer and I Believe.

For her wedding the bride chose an empire waisted gown of honeymoon crepe with an A-line skirt and a short capelet around the seam with a shawl collar. The bodice and short sleeves were of the same lace with a full length gown of aqua Mandalay satin featuring short puffed sleeves for her sister's wedding. Daisy appliques trimmed the empire waistline and collar. Both she and the bridesmaid, Mrs. John Dallman, who was groomed in a similar ensemble, carried fabric flowers matching their gowns were tucked into their coiffures.

The groom's brother Douglas Gregory Hyde of Kamloops served as best man and the groomsmen were Cyril Tinning of Kelowna. Ushers were Robert Barr Cliffe, brother of the bride and John Dallman, both of Kelowna.

The bride's mother chose a light blue coat-dress ensemble accented with corsage of pink carnations for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother wore a turquoise blue turtleneck coat-dress ensemble, with pink carnations.

At the reception which followed at Mountain Shadows, the bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with white doves. The bride and groom were seated at the head of the table. A sumptuous note to the white cloth covered table.

Toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Douglas Hyde and Lawrence Hyde did the honors for the bridesmaids. Robert Barr Cliffe toasted the bride's parents celebrating their 28th wedding anniversary. Additional toasts were proposed by Robert Cliffe to three couples celebrating anniversaries on June 21: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. George Tinning and Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Tinning.

For her honeymoon trip to northern points in British Columbia the bride donned a navy and white pant suit of tulle with navy sandals and navy purse, complemented by white straw hat with red rose corsage. The couple will reside at East Kelowna.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Barr, Oak River, Man.; Mrs. W. H. Cliffe, Winnipeg; Mrs. Iva Collins, Edmonton; Gregory Hyde, Kamloops; Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. Eva Forrest and Mrs. Jean Poynter, all of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Allan McKenzie; Mrs. Pauline Snow, of Summerland; Mr. and Mrs. Rol King, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morrow, all of Penticton, and Ben G. Hyde and May Sanford, both of Vancouver.

ANN LANDERS

Expensive Gifts Are Poor Substitute

Dear Ann Landers: I started a letter to you a couple of hours ago. I left it on my desk after writing only a few lines. My dad walked by and saw it. He said in a half-kidding way, "I see you are writing to Ann Landers. I can't imagine what YOU have to complain about." I didn't answer. At the dinner table he started again—"Don't forget when you criticize your parents to Ann Landers, be sure to tell her you have your own telephone, that we remodelled your bedroom and put in a stereo. Be sure to mention that we promised you a trip to Europe next summer after graduation."

It's funny, I WAS going to mention all those things—in a different context. My whole life seems to be things, things, things—and more things. I'd gladly give up all the THINGS if my parents would only treat me like an adult. I can't recall ever having had a real conversation with either of them. I guess this is my problem. Ann Landers, what's the solution? Too Much And Too Little.

Dear Ann: I gather you are about 17—and this is pretty late to try to initiate your first real conversation with your parents. From your father's remarks, I assume you two are operating on different wavelengths.

Parents who believe a stereo and a trip to Europe are where it's at are a sad lot. Unfortunately, they become sadder as time goes on and they realize they have no relationship with their children.

Dear Ann Landers: Should I continue to remain friendly with a person who is in desperate need of professional help—even though the relationship is threatening my own emotional balance? This person keeps me on the phone for hours and the conversations usually end with her screaming and hanging up on me.

I feel sorry for her, but I fear for my own mental health. Sometimes, after a particularly stormy session, it takes days before I am able to regain my sense of balance. If, in your opinion, I should discontinue the relationship, please tell me how to show this person I wish her well. A. T. H.

Dear A. T. H.: You can best help your friend by suggesting the names of two or three doctors who have helped others.

Only an extremely stable person can tolerate the abuse of a sick person without feeling hurt or resentful. You obviously cannot handle it, and you should not try.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me what is wrong with people who do not answer letters. I have called friends long distance after extended periods of silence, just to see if they are all right. On the phone they say, "I'll put a letter in the mail today"—but they don't.

This has happened to me so many times I have just about lost my faith in people. I enjoy writing letters. To me, it's the next best thing to conversation. I can't understand why, at this very moment, at least 15 people owe me letters. Why are so many people slobs?

A Mystery Wrapped In An Enigma

Dear Ann Landers: Not all dilette correspondents are slobs. Some are rather nice folks who are unsure of their spelling, or they re-read a letter after having written it, and it sounds dumb, or illiterate, so they decide no letter at all would be better than what they've written. Reserve judgment honey, because you never know why people don't write.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is marrying a fine girl who comes from a family that has nothing. The girl's mother called yesterday and asked me to send a list of our relatives. "Only close," she said. "No cousins." I asked about friends. She said she is sorry—they must stay within a limited budget. "No friends." I asked if we could pay for the extra guests ourselves. She said, "No. We will have only what we can afford."

Ann, we are very disappointed. What should we do?—Yonkers.

Dear Yonkers: Abide by her wishes and be gracious. Later you can give a reception or dinner and invite anyone you please.

HITHER and YON

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. John Makow of Wardlaw Avenue were their son John and Audrey Gauthier of Vancouver.

Back from a wonderful six-week holiday at the coast is Mrs. D. L. Simon of Century Manor. Mrs. Simon enjoyed a visit with her sister, Mrs. G. W. Sheets and family at Bellevue and Renton, Wash., and also visited with old friends, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Clare at New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. Matt Kennedy at Cloverdale and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Makay of Vancouver.

Bonnie Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Stewart, is home from a six-month tour of Europe, during which she and three companions visited most countries on the continent. A favorite was Crete and they also had a wonderful two weeks in Holland where they were guests with a young couple, who showed them the highlights.

Dr. F. E. McNair and Mrs. McNair of Saucier Avenue are back from a month long holiday abroad. While there Dr. McNair attended a psychiatrists' convention in Amsterdam, Holland and in Great Britain. They enjoyed a motor trip through England, Wales and Scotland where they visited friends and relatives.

Flower Show Sponsored By ACW In The Mission Attended By 200

OKANAGAN MISSION (Special) — On June 23, the Anglican Church Women of St. Andrew's Mission, held their annual flower show at the Eldorado Arms Hotel, loaned by Mr. and Mrs. John Hindle. Nearly 200 people enjoyed the flowers, the tea, and the spacious grounds.

The show was opened by Mrs. Hilbert Roth. Receiving the guests were Mrs. Robert Aitkens, president of the ACW, and Mrs. Donald Kidd, wife of the Rector. The prizes were presented by Rev. Donald Kidd, who also presented a beautiful bouquet to Mrs. Frank Thorpe on the occasion of her 88th birthday. Mrs. Thorpe, now living in Kelowna, lived for many years in East Kelowna, and before that in Okanagan Mission. She has always been an ardent gardener.

Convening the tea was Mrs. Charles Rose, and exhibits and programs were looked after by Mrs. H. C. Dunlop, Mrs. H. H. Vickers, Mrs. T. B. Upton. The judges were Mrs. Ernest Worman and Mrs. Eric Farmer, who had a hard time judging some of the classes — the arrangements were particularly difficult, and were all of excellent quality.

Pouers for the occasion were Mrs. Fraser Berry, Mrs. Donald Kidd, Mrs. Hilbert Roth, Mrs. Edward Scott, Mrs. Dierdre McEachern and Mrs. Dan Hindle.

This flower show, held annually by the ACW of St. Andrew's Church, is always a popular event, and is growing in size, both in the number of exhibits, and the number of people attending. People enjoy seeing beauty, both in setting of the event, and the many beautiful specimens and arrangements.

The ACW feels there is a need for more flower shows in the Kelowna area. The ACW is grateful to all those who worked to make the show a success, the catering committee, the flower show committee, Mr. and Mrs. John Hindle, all those who came

Janet Sperle Given Gold Cord At Garden Party For Leaders

Guide and brownie leaders of District 4 Kelowna, members of the five parent groups within the district, Mrs. Stan Stockley representing District 1, and Mrs. Mary Greer of the Kelowna Daily Courier, gathered at the home of Mrs. G. D. Shaw on Wednesday, for a garden party convened by the local association executive.

The Gold Cord, the highest award in guiding was made to Ranger Janet Sperle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Sperle, by District Commissioner Mrs. P. A. Leach. This is the first Gold Cord to be earned in the two years since this district was formed. The rangers were in attendance, accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. A. Lawrence and Mrs. A. Sobchak.

Mrs. Walter Di Pasquale, president of District 4 LA, presented the past president, Mrs. John Henshaw, with a guide cup and saucer as a token of appreciation for all her hard work in the past, on behalf of all guides and brownies in the district.

Mrs. A. W. Burrian, Brown Owl of the 2nd Westbank pack, received her warrant from Commissioner Mrs. Leach.

A vote of heartfelt thanks was given to the guides for their work during the past year by Mrs. Di Pasquale on behalf of the LA and parent groups.

Refreshments were served by Pam Bradley, Janet Denham, and Sharilynn Upsdell of the 1st Bankhead Guide Company.

Party Honors Bride-To-Be

The beautiful rose garden at the Dorian Street home of Mrs. William Forrester was the setting for the informal gathering when she and her daughter, Cath, entertained in honor of Louise Tostenon. Miss Tostenon's wedding is an event of Aug. 14.

A corsage of pink carnations was pinned on the honoree and a yellow carnation tinted with red formed the corsage presented to her mother, Mrs. H. R. Tostenon.

Among the many friends in attendance were Miss Tostenon's future bridesmaids, Marina Maundrell and Sharon Casey, both living in Vancouver now. Her junior bridesmaid, Shirley Tostenon, was also present for the miscellaneous shower.

Another surprise which added to the enjoyment of the evening was that her cousin, Mrs. Dave Warner was in attendance. Karen and her husband Dave have been transferred from Gimli, Man., to the Canadian Armed Forces Base at Sydney, N.S.

Poring over defensive driving course exams last week were a few of about 30 local insurance agents, adjusters, staff and wives concerned with promoting greater safety consiousness in motorists. Sponsored by the British Columbia Safety Council, the special course was held at Kelowna Secondary School June 14 and 15 for insurance personnel.

Driving course graduates can look forward to reduced insurance premiums in the future. Left to right are Michael Beate, Denis Aubrey, Robert DeMara (background) and Gordon Hansen.

'Yellow' Journalism Rapped For Youth Culture Report

HAMILTON (CP) — Health Minister John Munro lashed out at "yellow journalism" for what he said were inaccurate and intentionally deceptive reports on the government's Youth Culture 1971 program.

He singled out "a Toronto newspaper" — not named — that published an interview with a worker involved in the youth study.

The youth, who requested to remain anonymous to protect her job, compared the study with George Orwell's 1984, in which everyone watches everyone else.

Mr. Munro told a meeting of the Hamilton East Liberal Association — after a Commons statement by him on the issue earlier in the day — that there is no question of spying or secrecy involved in the attitude survey of Canadian youth.

Mr. Munro accepted full responsibility for the study and said it follows the "general practice of all social surveys."

In the Toronto interview, a young researcher has said that the study "scars hell out of me."

200 HIRED She said the government has hired about 200 young persons to observe their peers secretly.

She quoted from her copy of The Recording Procedure Manual, issued to researchers by the federal health department.

"Upon leaving the field," the manual states, "immediately proceed to a private or semi-private location, e.g., park bench, restaurant, where you can transfer the essential items . . . to paper."

"In the case of extended observations it is recommended that this task be performed during, as well as after, the observation by retiring to the bathroom for a few minutes."

"Never return to the field with your notes," the manual instructs.

Mr. Munro did not deny that the manual also asks the young workers to determine how young people provide for sexual needs — whether through "regular dating patterns, prostitution, masturbation, hustling on street . . ."

But he said it was only one isolated item in what he called a "participant observation survey."

And, Mr. Munro said, the student researchers were told to identify themselves when questioning their peers.

CODE NAMES USED The criteria of the study were determined by 32 team leaders, the minister said, and they state that no individual is to be named. Code names or initials were to be used.

A final report on the three-month survey, will only be published if the team leaders agree unanimously, although the results will be made available to the health department, he said.

The individual reports were to be destroyed.

Mr. Munro defended the survey saying it is needed to determine what goes on in the mind of young people today.

"The transient youth problem has become so big in recent years," the minister said, "we don't know the best way to go about it."

"How do we know how to set up the best agencies and help them from city to city? That is all we wanted to do."

Ottawa Has Several Allies In Unemployment Fight

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is counting mainly on free-market forces, newly stimulated by some tax cuts, to lift Canada gradually out of its worst bout of unemployment in a decade.

"Despite the many changes in our social and economic structure," Finance Minister E. J. Benson said in his budget last Friday, "we must continue to look to the private sector and to business corporations to provide the jobs for our rapidly-expanding labor force."

That declaration constituted a rebuke to critics who have been calling for more direct, positive intervention by the government to generate more jobs quickly.

Mr. Benson says he does not believe governments should create jobs directly.

Unemployment — 543,000 out of a labor force of 8.6 million in May — has been at or above six per cent of the work force for a year. It was 6.3 per cent in May, or 63 jobless out of every 1,000 potential workers.

Mr. Benson says that unemployment rates will move gradually downward as productive activity picks up, stimulated by more spending because of the new tax cuts and earlier federal programs.

The minister declines to say how long he thinks it will take for Canada to spend its way out of unemployment, or even what figure he has in mind for his ultimate target of full employment.

"It's a very difficult thing," he said following his budget speech.

"Historically, going back to 1953, the average rate of unemployment in Canada has been around five per cent."

Mr. Benson said the finance department has been relying almost entirely on conventional economic policy to combat unemployment gradually, wielding the so-called big levers of economic management.

That method is based on the idea that if governments spend more, and possibly also reduce taxes to put more spending power in the hands of the people, the over-all demand for goods and services is bound to get stronger. In turn, increased demand should inspire businessmen to step up output, eventually hiring more workers to help.

In a federal budget last December and in other 1970 programs, the emphasis was all on increased government spending on housing, public works and subsidies to private industry.

In the spring, despite Mr. Benson's avowed distaste for direct creation of jobs, other federal departments put together $67.8 million in a summer employment program for underemployed thousands of students.

Last Friday's budget, for the financial year that opened April 1, concentrated on the big lever of tax cuts.

The main feature, removal of a three-per-cent income surtax will place an estimated extra $130 million of spending power in the pockets of Canadians for the remaining nine months of the fiscal year.

Altogether, popular and corporate spending power is to be increased by $207 million, with the additional tax exemptions for pensioners and the poor plus removal or adjustment of some federal sales, excise and import taxes.

STIMULUS TOO SMALL Critics say that amount of stimulus is too small and belated to do much for unemployment quickly.

The tax cuts are equivalent to just over one cent out of every dollar the government will raise in revenue this fiscal year.

While the bulk of the tax change aims at stimulating spending generally, some is designed with more precision to help industries especially hard hit by the economic recession.

Removal of excise tax from home electronic products, for instance, is to help an Ontario industry in which factories have closed or slowed down this year.

The paper industry of Eastern Canada, untroubled by a series of spring layoffs, gets a measure of aid with reduced tariffs on the imported, heavy fuel oil that it uses.

But amid an immediate chorus of general approval from the Canadian business community, some dissenting voices have been raised.

They express doubt that the new measures will deal adequately with chronic, long-term unemployment.

Businessman-politician Eric Klerans, who quit the federal cabinet April 29 complaining that not enough was being done to cure unemployment, maintains that last Friday's measures constitute little improvement.

What Canada needs to build jobs for one of the fastest-growing work forces in the world, Mr. Klerans says, are economic and tax policies that encourage manufacturing with high manpower needs.

Instead, he says, tax policies, offer too much incentive to low manpower production of raw materials, the policies also encourage manufacturers to spend heavily on technology at the expense of jobs.

Environmental Teachers 'Gagged' In Handing On Full Knowledge

OTTAWA (CP) — The curriculum in almost every Canadian school prevents teachers in environmental science from conveying their full knowledge and interest to students, says a special Science Council of Canada study released today.

As a result the teachers can present interesting facts to their students, but cannot deal adequately with the inter-relationships between man and nature.

The study, Scientific Activities in Fisheries and Wildlife Resources, was prepared by Douglas Pimlott, a University of Toronto ecologist; C. James Kerswill, a program co-ordinator at the Fisheries Research Board headquarters in Ottawa, and John Roger Bider, a McGill University wildlife biologist.

Recommendations based on the study were presented to the government by the science council last October.

The study says high school teachers are usually sufficiently trained so that only an adjustment of curriculum would be needed to improve the quality of environmental education.

But on the elementary level, there is an urgent need to establish schools at which teachers can receive instruction in ecology.

POST-SECONDARY BETTER In colleges and universities in Canada, the picture is brighter. "Biology is listed as an optional science for arts students at virtually every Canadian university. In addition, faculties of education in some provinces send some or all of their students to departments of biology."

Conversely, Canadian university biology departments tend to restrict their own students from studying in other departments.

The successful management of fish and wildlife requires "an intricate blend of biological knowledge, social understanding, political realism, legal appreciation and economic and financial acumen."

"Unfortunately, the education of biologists has not usually taken them much beyond things biological."

Fleeing South Vietnamese Shot Down With Own Guns

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops overran a South Vietnamese artillery base just below the demilitarized zone and turned its guns on the fleeing defenders, reliable informants reported today.

South Vietnamese headquarters refused to confirm the report, but a spokesman said there were unconfirmed reports that the 500 South Vietnamese at the base had "moved off the hill and are fighting enemy troops around it."

The South Vietnamese were driven out of the base Wednesday night, despite support from neighboring artillery, American B-52 bombers and helicopter gunships.

Meanwhile, the Cambodian military command claimed one of its greatest victories of the war, reporting that Viet Cong and two regiments of North Vietnamese are pulling out of the Vihear Suol marshes east of Phnom Penh after a month of fighting. But the command said there still are pockets of resistance.

The Vihear Suol marshes are crucial to Phnom Penh's defence because they are within rocket and mortar range of the capital. They also are on a major North Vietnamese supply line from the Ho Chi Minh trail to South Vietnam and to Communist forces in Cambodia southwest of Phnom Penh.

MINES GOES AHEAD SASKATOON (CP) — Gulf Minerals of Canada Ltd. will likely go ahead with a $50-million uranium mine near Wollaston Lake in northern Saskatchewan, company president Nick Ediger of Toronto said Thursday. He said the company was counting on the newly-elected NDP government to honor commitments made by the old Liberal government to build an all-weather road and help construct the townsite.

NEW RATES SET WINNIPEG (CP) — Rates for supplementary coverage under the Manitoba government's public automobile insurance plan were announced Thursday by municipal affairs minister Howard Pawley, who said motorists will save between five and 35 per cent.

ON THE PRAIRIES Election Call Never Came EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta premier Harry Strom had the press and the legislature primed for an election call that never came Thursday. Instead the packed press conference was told by mines minister Russ Patrick he had "no clues as to when the election will be."

Hotel Told: Repay Sundry

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge Thursday ordered the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to refund to guests a "sundry" charge for message services he called "fraudulent and unconscionable."

The hotel was ordered to pay back $114,202.83 to 64,338 guests who paid the charge between Dec. 2, 1969, and May, 1970. The average refund comes to $1.76.

Justice Harold Baer ordered the refund on a suit brought in New York state Supreme Court by state Attorney-General Louis J. Lefkowitz after a complaint from a hotel guest identified only as a New York bank president.

The hotel argued last week the two-per-cent levy was "proper for the extensive internal communications services given to all our guests."

Lefkowitz said the "nature of the charges had been concealed."

Richard Winfield, lawyer for the hotel, said he planned to appeal the ruling.

COLLEGE CHIEF'S VIEW

Try To Understand U.S. Nationalist Meet Told

TORONTO (CP) — Canadians, to avoid American domination, "must understand, and not repudiate, our great neighbor," Dr. Claude Bissell, rector of the University of Toronto has urged.

"Understanding America does not mean accepting America," he told more than 300 delegates to the Ontario conference on economic and cultural nationalism.

"Our nation was launched, in part, because of our fear of the United States and our determination to order our affairs differently."

"We shall achieve a national serenity when the fear and the determination cease to be obsessive when we live and flourish in our own sovereign right," Dr. Bissell said.

Dr. Bissell said "there is, among the American people, a profound indifference to Canada."

"We have all participated in American-Canadian discussions in which the American members are puzzled by Canadian concerns for identity and genuineness distressed by Canadian assertiveness and hostility."

"We explain to our American friends that our concern arises from the pressure of great impersonal forces — geographic, economic, political and cultural — that have been with us since the beginning of our national existence and that today seem to be moving towards a menacing resolution."

Although Canada does not have the old-fashioned kind of nationalism, which requires a self-assurance and the capacity for symbolic recreation of the past, "when we are sober . . . we are concerned with survival, a concern just as deep in the hearts of English Canadians as of French Canadians," he said.

Earlier, Premier William

Davis summarized in one word the way his government viewed foreign intervention in the economy and culture of Canada, particularly Ontario—HELP!

"Help us in government to find the course of action that will enhance our Canadianism in all respects that do honor to the best that is within us. Help us find answers to questions which disturb us all as to the actual nature of Canadian reality."

He asked the first session of the three-day conference if it was possible to be "truly independent in the modern world."

For that matter, is it desirable?

Today, the real and apparent costs to Canadians of economic nationalism will be discussed by E. A. Goodman, a Toronto lawyer, L. R. Wilson, director of research for John Labatt Ltd. and R. W. Bonner, senior vice-president of MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. and former attorney-general of British Columbia.

They will be joined in a panel discussion by Dr. R. M. MacIntosh, deputy chief general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and C. Norman Simpson, president of Acres Group, an international development company.

British Euro-Euphoria Spell 'Threatens Commonwealth'

LONDON (Reuter) — Commonwealth press chiefs heard a warning today that Britain's pre-occupation with the European Common Market might jeopardize the future links of the white Commonwealth countries with the British crown.

In a bluntly-worded speech, opening a two-day conference of the Commonwealth Press Union here, Australia's high commissioner, Sir Alexander Downer, hit out at what he called a declining belief in Britain in the value of the Commonwealth.

"For those of us who are proud to acclaim the Queen as our sovereign, who believe in the monarchy as an institution, I fear that with so many practical ties being deliberately broken subsequent generations of Australians, Canadians and New Zealanders may question whether a monarchy centred in Britain has any relevance for them," he said.

Sir Alexander also said that if the Commonwealth is to survive and the Commonwealth nations are to remain linked together it would be absolutely necessary "once the champagne and the Euro-euphoria has subsided" for Britain to make some positive manifestation of a continuing Commonwealth interest.

CRITICAL TIME

The annual conference is attended by about 80 editors, publishers and senior correspondents from newspapers and news agencies in 16 Commonwealth countries, including Canada.

Sir Alexander told them the present critical time may be a watershed of history which the future will regard as the great divide in Britain's relations with her neighbors, with the countries of the Commonwealth and with the rest of the world.

Friends of Britain hope that the judgment of those who advocate union with Western Europe is right, he said. If the future proved them wrong the results could be catastrophic.

The high commissioner complained of a steady decline in the British national press of reports of serious Commonwealth news.

He appealed to the editors to set aside a page of their newspapers for Commonwealth affairs.

Writer's Letters Sold By Auction

NEW YORK (Reuter) — Eleven letters by D. H. Lawrence were auctioned Thursday night for $5,115—a record for letters by the novelist. The letters were sold at the Charles Hamilton Galleries. The letters were to Harold Mason of Centaur Books in Philadelphia.

GETS 15 YEARS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jean Paul Lavigne, 27, who robbed a branch of the Toronto-Dominion bank of $2,300 last Jan. 20, Thursday was sentenced to 15 years for the crime.

B.C. To Widen Voting Rights

VANCOUVER (CP) — Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said Thursday that legislation will be presented at the next Legislative session to extend money bylaw voting rights to non-property owners.

Mr. Campbell told reporters following an address to the Vancouver Board of Trade's civic affairs committee, that he personally favors equal voting rights for all residents and that he will attempt to get amendments to the Municipal Act passed next Spring.

The minister said that within all parties in the legislature, including his own, there is opposition to extending money voting rights to tenants. In addition, he said the province's municipalities are divided on the issue.

At this year's session, Vancouver was unsuccessful in an attempt to give tenant the money franchise through amendments to the Vancouver Charter.

Mr. Campbell said the Vancouver request was turned down because he would like to bring amendments to the city charter and the Municipal Act—which governs all other municipalities in B.C.—into the House at the same time.

BEING SORRY WON'T HELP...

If you strike down a child with your automobile

It Won't Help the CHILD . . . It Won't Help the PARENTS . . . It Won't Help YOU!

Involving a little child in an automobile accident is the one great fear that haunts every responsible motorist, yet it happens somewhere every day. Regardless of who is at fault, it won't prevent your dreams from being haunted for years to come. The only way to avoid such a catastrophe is to prevent it from ever happening. It's like a child to forget. It's up to adults to remember. Drive with extreme caution every moment you're behind the wheel.

PENTAGON PAPERS ISSUE

Who Decides W

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight over the Pentagon war study, now in the United States Supreme Court, is a fight over who decides what the people read in newspapers: a government official, an editor or a judge.

The justice department, expressing concern for U.S. security, wants to protect its authority to mark documents "top secret" and keep them in the files until officials decide the reason for secrecy has passed.

The New York Times, the Washington Post and other newspapers that have run articles based on the study of the Vietnam war, concede there are military secrets that should not be published. But they would reserve the right to make a judgment for themselves.

In the middle stand the many judges who have been dragged into the struggle. They find themselves having to engage in the always difficult task of balancing two competing interests: security and the people's right to know.

The balance has been tipped differently in different courts so far. As a result, the Supreme Court is forced almost inescapably into making the final judgment.

TIMES MAKES BID

The Times, first to turn to the top court, argues that restraints by courts on news about "public affairs" do not square with the First Amendment's free-press guarantees.

Wednesday the federal appeals court in New York told the paper it could begin running on Saturday only parts of the study that the government is willing to let be published.

The justices, who were to begin their summer vacations next Monday, can conduct the "immediate" hearing requested by The Times or let lower-court hearings proceed under the July 3 deadline set by the appeals court.

The government wants the hearing held and has told the justices nothing would be lost if The Times had to wait one

AROUND B.C.

Copter Pilot Found Dead

FORT ST. JOHN (CP) — RCMP said Thursday searchers have found the body of Ian Adam of Vancouver, who was the pilot of a helicopter that crashed into the Beatton river five miles east of here, killing him and Albert Uhryn, 39, and his daughter Laurie, 14. Mr. Uhryn's body is still missing.

KAYAK 475 MILES

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Three young adventurers leave this north-coastal city Sunday on a 475-mile kayak trip down the coast to Vancouver. Doug Christison and Rayn Mitchell, both 20, and Les Whitely, 17, will use glass fibre kayaks, hoping to complete the trip in a month.

YOUTHS CONVICTED

FORT ST. JOHN (C)—Richard Tingley and Clifford Kistner, both of this Peace River community, were found guilty Thursday of beating and robbing Paul Bjorn, 32, who suffered head wounds and a dislocated shoulder after losing his watch and wallet. They were to be sentenced today.

DEADLINE EXTENDED

FORT ST. JOHN (CP) — Mayor Peter Frankiw Thursday extended the deadline for three firms to tender bids on construction of the town's new recreation centre. Council last week asked for the extension after it found bids were at least $300,000 above the $700,000 estimate.

ELECTRIFICATION BEGUN

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — The federal department of Indian affairs Thursday approved a project to bring electricity to the Indian settlement of Tachle on the eastern shore of Stuart Lake, north of Fort St. James. The project will help about 50 families.

WALKS 150 MILES

NELSON (CP) — Radio announcer Gordon Stirling of CKKC HERE LEFT Thursday for Spokane, Wash., where he will start a 150-mile walk to Nelson. Various companies and organizations have sponsored him at more than $13 a mile to raise money for Nelson's indoor swimming pool fund.

Heroin Test Set For Gls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new heroin detection test now administered to all United States soldiers leaving Vietnam already has proven itself an effective means of finding hard drug users, its developers say.

The test, pioneered by a civilian laboratory in the U.S. capital, was described Thursday by its developers as 100 times more sensitive than previous methods.

It can reliably detect heroin up to five days after a user has had a "fix," they say.

The test is the key to "a revolutionary mass screening technique for the detection of narcotics in the body on a scale never before achieved," said officials of the Washington Reference Laboratory.

They said the highly-sensitive, electronic process, in combination with the best of older methods, is already used by their techniques to screen more than 2,500 urine samples daily.

The method involves mixing a small urine sample—less than 1-20th of a drop—with a special reagent. When the reagent is mixed with a sample containing heroin, a recordable configuration of electrons is produced and in seconds, a pen describes lines on graph paper showing the amount of drug in the specimen.

n Crew pressive

returning to the Henley Royal Regatta with a bigger, stronger, faster crew than the one that swept aside all opposition in 1970 to win the Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup for schoolboy eights.

Some British rowing experts went so far last year as to suggest Ridley, the first Canadian crew to win a Henley eights title, was the finest scholastic crew ever to appear at Henley.

So far this season, Ridley has duplicated its 1970 showing, snatching away with the United States and Canadian open eight-oared schoolboy titles.

The U.S. crown was won for the third successive year when Ridley clocked 5:08.2 into a stiff wind on Lake Onondaga at Syracuse, N.Y., besting St. Andrew's School of Middleton, Del., by a deck of open water in their mile test.

BEAT AMERICANS

A week later, on the Henley course here, Ridley powered home 2½ lengths up on St. Joseph's high school of Buffalo, N.Y., for the Canadian championship, clocking a sizzling 4:29 for the 1,500-metre distance.

The Ridley eight heads overseas Saturday to defend its Princess Elizabeth title with only four of last year's crew in the boat. Graduation at the St. Catharines prep school, which began rowing only four years ago, has taken its toll.

Yet coach Campbell, who stroked Canada's 1968 Olympic eight in Mexico City, has boated a bigger and faster crew than last year's undefeated outfit. They average six feet in height, 190 pounds from bow to stroke and 18 years of age.

Warren Aziz of London, Ont., is back at stroke with Bruce Holliday of Quebec City in his second season as coxswain. They, along with Bill Verity of Brantford, Ont., in No. 7 and Dirk Gidney of Ancaster, Ont., in No. 5, are the leftovers from 1970.

RUTLAND'S MAD HATTERS SWING BACK

There's a growing mood of nostalgia about the musical world these days as more and more people, admittedly mostly among the non-teenage set, swing back to the 'good old songs.' On the local scene a Rutland group has become much in demand with its songs from memory lane.

The group, known as the Mad Hatters, which is seen above, sings modern songs too, but is unashamedly non-with it.

The group, directed by Mrs. William Drinkwater, accompanies itself on an assortment of improvised instruments, which can be recognized as kitchen, bathroom and household utensils. (Courier Photo)

Satchmo Still Warms It Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, who nearly died this spring, now is practising his gold-plated trumpet an hour a day and thinking about going back to work when his traders get into as good shape as his chops.

His chops, his lips, he says, are fine.

His traders, his legs, he says, are his weakest spot. But a therapist visits his home twice a week and Armstrong says he is walking better all the time, though using a cane for the first time in his life.

The New Orleans-born trumpeter says a tracheotomy given when he had stopped breathing for four seconds in the hospital has not harmed his horn blowing and may have improved his singing voice. "I thought they were cutting some of the tone out of my throat," he said. "But it is even better."

Armstrong invited a few reporters to his home in Queens Wednesday, to answer questions about his health as he approaches his 71st birthday July 4 and to thank fans and friends who sent him a truckload of mail during his 10 weeks in Beth Israel Hospital.

Armstrong was looking more robust than he had during the two-week engagement at the Waldorf which ended March 1, the day before he went into the hospital.

Dame Edith Quits

CHICHESTER, England (AP) — Dame Edith Evans, 83-year-old star of the British stage, has had to give up her role of Carotta in the Chichester Festival Theatre production of Dear Antonio.

The production company said Dame Edith did so on medical advice.

Her understudy, Peggy Marshall, has taken over the role.

Critics Praise, Pan Plummer

LONDON (CP) — Critics had mixed feelings about Toronto-born Christopher Plummer's performance as Jupiter and Amphitryon in Jean Giraudoux' classical comedy Amphitryon 38 at the New Theatre on Wednesday night.

In his debut with the National Theatre Company, Plummer, 41, "doubles the role of husband and divine lover with oddly little humor and much less assurance," The Daily Telegraph says.

Plummer, who trained with the Montreal Repertory Company, "seems to miss many potentially comic points and the tongue of the actor is yet too plainly in the cheek," The Telegraph continues.

As a comedy on the wife-swapping pastimes of the heroes and gods of ancient Greece, the play "was a brave attempt, but very disappointing," The Telegraph concludes.

Musical To End Longest Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway's long-run musical Man of La Mancha closes Friday after 2,328 performances and with a profit of 2,500 per cent.

The show based upon the deeds of Don Quixote opened Nov. 25, 1965.

During its run the production earned $5 million profit for investors who posted the original $200,000 cost.

A Pool Is Cool!

NOW IS THE RIGHT TIME to start thinking about the most comfortable heating system money can buy.
HOT WATER HEAT WITHOUT PLUMBING

More than 360,000 installations attest to the fact that Intertherm electric hot water heat without plumbing provides more comfort than you ever dreamed possible. And at an annual operating cost comparable to gas and oil.

No more cold drafts. No more cold floors. Even heat in every room. No "on" again, round.

"off" again heat. And air so fresh it feels like summertime all year round.

The secret is in the water in the baseboard heaters, which changes temperature according to outside weather conditions. Guarantees comfort and economy at the same time.

Don't wait. Phone in for all the details today. And learn for yourself how hot water heat without plumbing can be the answer to providing the greatest comfort for your family.

THE MAJORS

Old And New Common Touch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dave McNally and Jim Slaton have little in common. McNally has been pitching for Baltimore Orioles for 10 seasons while Slaton wasn't even in the major leagues when this one began.

But they both had the opposition in the palms of their hands Thursday as they tossed four-hitters, McNally stopping Washington Senators 6-1 at night and Slaton carrying Milwaukee Brewers to a 6-0 win over California Angels in a day game.

In the only other American League night game on the abbreviated schedule, Detroit Tigers silenced Cleveland Indians 3-0. Oakland Athletics' game at Minnesota Twins was rained out.

McNally's 12th triumph of the year against four setbacks put him second only to Oakland's 15-game winner Vida Blue in major-league victories.

The Baltimore left-hander got all the runs he needed in the first inning as Don Buford crashed a leadoff homer and Brooks Robinson followed walks to Boog Powell and Frank Robinson with a single for the first of his three runs batted in.

BROOKS WAS BUSY. Brooks Robinson also lofted a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the third and singled in a run home in the fifth, then took second on a walk and scored himself when Andy Etchebarren, grounding into a force out, kept the Senators busy on a rundown play between first and second.

The victory was the Orioles' 20th in 25 games and kept them 6½ games ahead of Detroit in the American League East.

The Brewers staked Slaton to a five-run lead in the fourth inning and the young hurler protected with a two-hitter until the Angels opened the eighth with a pair of singles. But a force out and Tony Gonzalez' doubles play grounder got him out of danger.

Tommy Harper ignited the Brewers' outburst with their first hit off Clyde Wright, 7-7. A walk and Andy Kosco's single broke the scoreless duel and after another walk, Dave May smacked a three-run double.

May scored on Slaton's infield single when catcher Jeff Torborg dropped the throw to the plate.

Mickey Lolich scattered eight hits and fanned 11 Cleveland batters as the Tigers slipped past idle Boston into second place in the East Division.

Singles by Dick McAuliffe and Mickey Stanley and Norm Cash's sacrifice fly produced a first-inning run and Detroit capped the scoring in the seventh on Aurelio Rodriguez' double. Gene Lamont's single, Lolich's sacrifice and McAuliffe's single.

Not An Every Day Thing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What is so rare as a day in June?

Any weekday when the Dodgers play baseball in Los Angeles.

Or a Tom Seaver home run.

The Dodgers made the most of an infrequent matinee home date Thursday, trouncing St. Louis Cardinals 11-4 with a sunburst of 14 hits. Then, in a night game, New York Mets made the most of Seaver's second major league homer—a tie-breaking shot in the eighth inning—to nip Montreal Expos 2-1 behind their ace right-hander's five-hitter.

In the only other game on the National League schedule, Philadelphia Phillies shaded Cincinnati Reds 3-1 on a two-run single by rookie Roger Freed in the 10th inning.

DODGERS BOUNCE BACK. The Dodgers, beaten twice by the Cardinals under the lights, bounced back to take the finale of the three-game set before an afternoon crowd of 19,282.

It was the only midweek day game scheduled this season for Los Angeles, where the Dodgers played exclusively at night last year except on weekends.

"I like it," said Jim Lefebvre, who broke out of a two-week slump to pace the Dodgers' attack with a homer and two singles, good for four runs batted in. "Now I can have dinner at home and relax."

Seaver jumped on a 1-1 pitch from Bill Stoneman with two out in the eighth and drove it over the left field fence to break a 1-1 deadlock at Montreal. The first homer of his five-year career also came at the expense of the Expos last season with Rich Nye the victim.

He struck out nine Expos on the way to his ninth victory against three setbacks.

THREE TIED

DELTA, B.C. (CP) — Three golfers ended up tied for first place Thursday after the second round of the British Columbia Seniors' golf tournament in wet, cold and windy weather.

Hank Mitchell and John Berry, both of Vancouver and Jack Ellis of the host Beach Grove course were tied at 155 after 36 holes on the 6,211-yard, par-72 course.

Quebec Open Going Today At Two Montreal Courses

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Open, second tournament on the seven-event Peter Jackson Canadian tour, gets under way today with an expected field of 220 golfers from Canada and the U.S. teeing off at the nearby Summerlea Golf and Country Club.

The event has total prize money of $16,000 and about 145 professionals in the field will be shooting for a first-place share of $3,000 in the 54-hole event which ends Sunday. The rest of the field is composed of amateurs.

The large field required the use of Summerlea's two layouts — the 6,690-yard Cascades course and the 6,615-Dorion links. To give all players a fair shot at the title, the Quebec Golf Association and the sponsors have agreed that each golfer will play his first two rounds on alternate courses.

After Saturday's second round the field will be cut to the low 70 scorers and ties. This cut could include the top 50 professionals and some 20 amateurs.

Jay Dolan of Leicester, Mass., winner of last year's Open at the Lorraine Golf and Country Club outside Quebec City, has returned to defend his title and is expected to receive stiff competition from a field of top Canadian professionals.

Al Balding of Toronto, one of Canada's best-known pros, has entered along with Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont., Stan Homebush of Dauphin, Man., Ben Kern of London, Ont., and Toronto's Gary Bowerman.

MONEY TO CARIBBEAN
OTTAWA (CP)—A $2.5 million interest-free advance to the Caribbean Development Bank is being made by Canada under an agreement signed Thursday, the first major commitment of funds from the $5 million Caribbean development fund announced last December. The money, which must be repaid to Canada, to provide credit to farmers.

BOMB WAS DUD
OTTAWA (CP)—A suspected bomb discovered Thursday morning at Canadian Forces Headquarters was quickly removed by a bomb disposal crew without seriously disrupting normal activity at the establishment. The 10-inch cylinder was discovered in a basement filing room by an employee. After a 10-minute defence department announcement the object contained no explosives.

RETURNS TO CNR
MONTREAL (CP)—Pierre Taschereau, vice-president of the Canadian transport commission since its creation in 1967, will return to Canadian National Railways as vice-president, and general counsel, the railway announced Thursday. Mr. Taschereau was a member of CNR's law department for 17 years before his transport commission appointment. He will succeed Lionel Cole, current head of CNR's law department. Aug. 1, Mr. Cole is retiring.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

She's Embarrassed At Her Ignorance

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had an operation, my womb and one tube removed. The doctor didn't explain what changes would take place, and I was embarrassed to ask at my age, 38. I should know.

Will I notice any difference when I go through the change of life? Will I have any discharge, or menstruate? Is there any chance whatsoever of my getting pregnant?—N.S.

I don't know why you "should" know just because you're 38. The best way to find out things you don't know is to ask—and don't be embarrassed. Nobody knows everything.

You had the womb, or uterus, removed. (That's hysterectomy.) And tube removed (salpingectomy). But evidently did not have an ovary removed. (That would be oophorectomy.)

With the uterus gone, you cannot get pregnant, and will not menstruate. There will be a discharge only if some infection of the vagina develops, which is usually due to a parasite (trichomonas) or yeast invasion. Such infections can, of course, develop whether you do or do not have a uterus.

There will be no change in sexual function unless you create it psychologically, and believe some of the unfounded reports that are still being circulated about such operations "ending your sex life." They don't.

With your ovaries intact, you can expect to experience menopause, or "change of life" at the same time you would have done so without the operation, probably somewhere in your 40s, possibly as late as early 50s.

Symptoms of menopause can be highly variable, but this is not because of your operation. The operation will have nothing to do with it. (But had both ovaries been removed, then you would have experienced "surgical menopause" immediately.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Sometimes I get cramps in my toes so bad while asleep that it wakes me up. My doctor prescribes pills, but when I complain all I get is more pills that do not help.

—Mrs. E. C.

Sometimes it takes more than pills—so co-operation on your part, in the way of proper diet and some very simple exercises, may make the difference.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son has ichthyosis. Is there any treatment or cure for this condition?—Mrs. P.

This condition—a hardening and drying of the outer layer of the skin—is also called fish skin disease and xeroderma.

Whether to try to do anything about it depends on how anything it happens to be. If it is sufficiently mild, forget about it.

But if it is genuinely bothersome, the only thing to do is to keep the skin as soft and pliable as possible, with lanolin or other oily preparations. A dermatologist may be able to prescribe a lotion that will help soften the skin more effectively, but don't expect a "cure." It's just the way the skin behaves with some people.

Some people recommend a diet high in fats, but since most of us eat more fats than we need anyway, I have reservations on that. I doubt whether it helps the skin, and for the long-term effect on health, we are all better off not to get too much fat.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you write about mycosis, which is supposed to be a rare disease?—Mrs. V. H.

Myosis is the term applied to any disease caused by a fungus. Depending on the variety, it can be rare or common.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER
(Top Record-Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play)

BIDDING QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West North East South
1 ♠ Pass Pass ?

What would you bid now with each of the following six hands?

1. ♠QJ83 ♥Q7 ♦K986 ♣A95
2. ♠AKJ853 ♥AQ942 ♦A73
3. ♠QJ982 ♥A833 ♦Q9 ♣K4
4. ♠10 ♥Q983 ♦AJ72 ♣K886
5. ♠82 ♥QJ ♦A43 ♣AKQ552
6. ♠75 ♥AKJ94 ♦AQ6 ♣Q83

1. One notrump. When the bidding dies at a low level, the last player to speak has a special obligation to compete if it is at all feasible to do so. Because his choice lies only between bidding or closing the bidding with a pass, he cannot be held strictly accountable. If he competes, for having all the values a bid he might make under other circumstances would ordinarily imply.

Thus, one notrump does not mean he has the customary 16 to 18 points. On the contrary, he will usually have 3 or 4 points less than that. A player in the protective or balancing seat must assume that his partner has more values than his pass indicates, and he is entitled to act on that basis rather than pass.

2. Two hearts. This would be a dangerous overcall had East —rather than West—opened with a spade, but under the circumstances two hearts is clearly indicated.

3. Pass. There is of course a limit on how far to carry the protective principle. The proper contract appears to be one spade—but played by West. This is primarily a defensive hand, once West has bid spades, and the best result can probably be achieved by passing. West is likely to go down one or more tricks.

4. Double. This is certainly a light takeout double, but values are often shaded in the balancing position. There is a good chance of making a part score and, at the same time, depriving the opponents of one.

5. Three clubs. Here you have the values for a double but, because of the one-sided nature of the hand, you can give a better description of it by jumping to three clubs. Naturally, this shows more strength than a two club bid would show. You hope partner will be able to bid three notrump.

6. Double. It would be dead wrong to bid two hearts, since partner would not expect such a strong hand. A better scheme is to double first and then bid two hearts over the expected two club or two diamond response. In that way you identify greater values than a direct two heart bid would show, and you alert partner that you are not bidding merely because you are in the protective position.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Mar. 21 to Apr. 20 (Aries) — Take a bold chance on an associate's hunch: He'll be right.

Apr. 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Boastman ideas could estrange you from more conservative companions.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Use care in personal relationships. Some persons on the "touchy" side.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Get all routine out of the way so that your weekend is free for fun.

July 24 to Aug. 23 (Leo) — A weekend trip could lead to unusual, but stimulating encounters.

Aug. 24 to Sept. 23 (Virgo) — A get-together with associates after work hours proves delightful.

Sept. 24 to Oct. 23 (Libra) — A new enterprise, if started around noon, seems quite likely to succeed.

Oct. 24 to Nov. 22 (Scorpio) — Be careful not to give in to harmful emotional impulses.

Nov. 23 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius) — A shrewd trip could enable you to give business affairs a push.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 20 (Capricorn) — A good day for furthering your personal affairs or creative plans.

Jan. 21 to Feb. 19 (Aquarius) — Old methods bring best results today, though they may cramp your style a bit.

Feb. 20 to Mar. 20 (Pisces) — Don't make mountains out of molehills. Stress reason, logic, humor.

Astroscpects — For the third day in a row, planetary aspects are somewhat mixed, with true evaluation in any general sense rather difficult. On the one hand, ingenuity will be stimulated, and new ideas/ventures could be successfully launched around noon—provided, however, that they are not too far out. On the other hand, there could be some confusion in personal relationships—with events bringing alternately disappointment and affectionate responses. The picture clears toward evening. Most persons will be socially expansive then, and recreational activities should prove quite zestful.
